Kids go Football Crazy at Half-Term

Boys and girls from the Cambridge Road Estates were given the chance to hone their football skills during October half term, thanks to three days of free football coaching sessions with Fulham Football Club.

The coaching sessions were open to all children between the ages of 4 and 14 years and were delivered by fully qualified coaches. The children were taken by minibus to the Hawker Centre.

What a drama!

Cambridge Gardens very own Fiona Fair offered children over eight years old the opportunity to take part in a Drama Workshop during October half term.

The workshops consisted of three 1½ hour sessions run over a three day period but were sadly not very well attended.

The children engaged in some improvisational work based on events in their real lives, which they then had to communicate to each other.

The workshops culminated in a mini performance for parents on the Friday. The children managed to rise to this challenge and produced some dynamic material.
