THE BEACON IS LIT! And The war memorial is unveiled in 1920

AN ADDRESS BY THE LATE LT. COL. H. BURKE -Suffolk & Essex F P September 1920

The dedication of the memorial cross to the men of the parish who had laid down their lives during the war took place on Sunday, the 5th Sept. 1920. Despite the inclement weather the congregation was too large for all to gather within the church. After shortened evensong had been said, the choir led the way to the cross, which stands in a commanding position facing the public path which runs through the churchyard. Prayers having been said and the De Profundis recited, Lt. Col. Hubert Burke, D.S.O., in a brief speech, spoke of the tyranny which had been overthrown by the efforts not merely of those who were commemorated on the cross which he was to unveil, but by the joint efforts of soldiers and civilians during that time of stress, but that the liberty which we all had fought for was not yet completely won, and only could be if all remembered what had so often said at the front when difficulties confronted the men—"carry on."

Lieut.-Col. Burke said that in unveiling that cross to the memory of the brave lads from that Parish it seemed to him that they should think why they did it. Why did they make the supreme sacrifice. The answer was he thought, it proved the great truth that might was not, and could never be necessarily right.

If the great war against tyranny which this country had waged had not been right or just it was impossible to imagine that the country and the Empire would have rallied in the way they did, for there was hardly a man or woman of any class who did not do their bit either at home or out there. It was hard to say that the fight was finished; the upheavals of passions roused by the Great War had not yet died down, and they could not say there was peace or happiness throughout the world. Even though in that long desolate strip of country throughout France and Belgium which all know as "No Man's Land," most of them knew it as hell upon earth, now only rushes waved and whispered in the wind, but looking round the world almost every country, whether East or West, did they see some form of unrest, whether actual war, civil war, or discontent. In some form or other they still found the fruits and consequences of discord, impatience and intolerance. It was only by unity, patience and tolerance that they won through those four long years, and to him it seemed needful now, more than ever, that they should continue to show that same spirit of unity, and exercise that same tolerance and that same patience. Then it could never be said that those who were alive to-day failed those whose memory that cross would perpetuate, that they died in vain. He felt sure that the message they, from the other side, would give to them to-day, if they could, would be the one we often heard in times of difficulty in France and elsewhere—the message "carry on."

The cross having been unveiled and dedicated by him, the Vicar, the Rev. A. P. Pannell, B.D., read the names of the fallen, and the "Last Post" was sounded by Mr. Arthur Johnson, of Sudbury. During the singing of "Peace, Perfect Peace," the friends of those whose names are on the cross came forward and laid flowers at the foot of the cross. The Rev. A.P. Pannell then gave a brief address on the quotations on the cross, which are :

There is a victory in dying well for freedom,
And you have not died in vain."
And a verse from the Book of Baruch ~ ~
I sent you out with mourning and weeping;
But God will give you to me again with joy and gladness for ever.

He said the first he chose because it would bring home to those who passed by, to the children who grew up, and future generations the great reason why these men went out to fight, and the second would be a consolation to the fathers and mothers.

"On the Resurrection Morning" having been sung, the Reveille was played, symbolising the call to the dead to arise, and with the Blessing the service terminated. It was said a mourner, as if they had all been buried in their own quiet churchyard at last. Eighteen names are inscribed on the memorial.

The monument stands 10 feet high, and is made of Portland stone. It consists of three panels, on which are inscribed the inscription and names of the fallen. The panels are supported by three moulded pilasters, and are surmounted by a cornice, moulded die, and a tall Latin cross, the whole design being very effective and neat.

The work was executed by Mr. F. J. Lindley, sculptor, of North Street, Sudbury, whose skill in this class of work is widely known. The inscription and names are as follow :—

"This cross is erected in memory of the men of this parish who lost their lives in the great war, 1914-1919"

BUZZARD IS SHOT IN BULMER

By Halle Groves ~Halstead Gazette

A BIRD rescue is "thrilled" In release a buzzard back into the wild after it was shot near Halstead. Owls and Birds of Prey Rescue Suffolk and Essex is run by Stephanie Callister-Jarrold, The charity rescues injured and orphaned owls and birds of prey before releasing them back into the wild.

The Buzzard has since been released back into the wild

Image: Stephanie Callister-Jarrold

A young women found an injured buzzard in Bulmer Tye in April.
 Stephanie said. 'A young lady was out with a running group and spotted the bird, but she had nothing to pick it up with.
 "I made contact with her and she kindly met me where she had seen the bird".
 ""The buzzard couldn't stand and was flying lop sided so I took him straight over to Robert at Linkswood Vets "
 Tests and X-rays were performed on the bird, which revealed the buzzard had been shot in the leg.
 Luckily the pellet hadn't shattered the bird's bone but had badly damaged its hip.
 Stephanie said: "We were in a dilemma — we didn't know what to do.
 "If it was a dog you'd amputate, if it was a cat it would need cage rest.
 "The buzzard was in such a mess we couldn't have operated.
 "We didn't have a clue — we hadn't come across anything like it before"
 Stephanie decided to keep the buzzard in aviary rest for four weeks, and after the first week the hip began to heal.
 The bird went from strength to strength, and began to stand comfortably and fly as well as hanging upside down from the wire roof
 The hird spent some time at a pre-release aviary in Pebmarsh to get the buzzard as close to where it was found as possible
 After the buzzard had healed completely Stephanie let the bird back into the wild.
 She said: "The legs were fine, the wings were fine. so we let him go.
 "We went down to open the door after he`d eaten. and as soon as the doors were open he swooped straight out.
 "He flew across the fields being chased by a crow, and went off to the woods at the end of the field."
 Stephanie said in cases such as this. the only option is usually to put the bird to sleep.
 However she wanted to give the buzzard as much times as it needed. and was thrilled to see the bird get better.
 Stephanie said: ""I'he buzzard made a miraculous recovery.
 "It was absolutely amazing, everybody was so thrilled.
 "But you have to question what idiot is shooting birds of prey that are protected?"
 "It's a sad indictment and we'll never know who or why and that's the problem".
 "It makes you wary uf releasing birds anywhere near Bulmer".

The Chairman of the Parish Council will give an address detailing the work of the Council over the last year.

Thank you everyone for coming
 Firstly, I would like to say how much I like the way the village is starting to work together. Coes Meadow is making a good effort at fundraising and maintenance with a brilliant VE Day morning and followed by the lighting of the beacon, plant sale and a tack sale are coming up.
 Skylarks are still going strong thanks to Maggie and the village hall is doing a good job of providing us all with a place to meet
 At long last, we have had a footpath from Bulmer to Sudbury cleared but it needs spraying
 We have a sign post that needs some TLC that are just not getting done
 We had to find a new Clerk half-way through the year and we should look for a new Clerk of our own as Kevin is only locum and I am worried he might leave us.

The Aubries have been helping with cutting of the verges and Sam Rowe has done a brilliant job of Coes Meadow hedge this is still one of our main expenses

We had a village tidying up and am hoping to have one again this year

Dumping of garden waste still is a problem in the village

The Federation of St Giles' and St Andrew's Primary Schools – Helen Padgett School Governor

St Andrew's received a two day visit by OFSTED in October 2024 which resulted in 'Good' gradings in all areas. 'St Andrew's is a 'happy place to be' and children 'relish coming to school here'.' Please see the school's website for the full report. While budgets are extremely tight and costs increasing, the federation has helped considerably with savings. The school continues to have four classes and has 61 children on roll with 12 starting in Reception in September 2025. The school has 12 children attending from Bulmer.

The federation continues to provide opportunities for the children from the three schools to work together on shared experiences. This has included learning, sport and trips out for all three schools. The three schools had a panto visit to the Theatre Royal, Bury St Edmunds at Christmas. Other visits have included Boydells Farm, Cambridge Mosque and Botanical Gardens, Firstsite, Colchester, Colchester Castle, and Colchester Zoo. St Andrew's has hosted a visit from the Exotic Animal Workshop, Young Shakespeare, A Midsummer Night's Dream and The Planetarium. The school continues to provide sports coaches and St Andrew's was host to a Football Festival as well as attending the Cross Country at Hedingham School. There is a dedicated music specialist working across the three schools. The emphasis, as always, is on delivering a broad and balanced curriculum experience.

The school has now leased a minibus which has meant that there can be more visits between schools and has reduced the costs considerably for local visits.

Pebbles pre-school continues to work well with the school and has school lunches provided by St Andrew's.

Forest School continues with all classes going over to Baker's Wood during the school year. Please see the school's website for more information and regular news. Sab.sgasa.uk

5. Open Public Forum:

- Defibrillator training was well attended. Defibrillators and batteries are checked on a monthly basis.

VILLAGE HALL LOTTERY

If you are new to the Village and would like to support the Village Hall why not join the Lottery. You can join for as little as 50p per number and can hold up to 4 numbers. If you would like to know more ring Dawn at the Post Office on 376676 or Maggie on 374758.

Month	First	Second	Third
Feb.	Mr C. Hayto	Mr L. Raymond	Mr W Dixey

Apr.	Mrs N Hamil	Mrs S Kershaw	Mr S Coombes
May	Mr & Mrs T Dickinson	Mr R Buchanan	Mrs D Allen

Village Hall.

Our new financial year started in May and we are faced with large bills for next year as, like all of us, our utilities bills have increased considerably. The insurance on the Hall is now almost £1,000, water rates and electricity costs have escalated and it even costs £600 to have our 1 bin emptied. So we have a few headaches in front of us just to keep it open. We did put our rents up by a small amount but don't want to repeat this as we want to keep the Hall accessible financially to everyone. Unfortunately we have lost one of our hirers, the Pilates classes ceased in April due to the instructor leaving the area. These classes were very well attended so we are hoping that perhaps someone will come along and start them up again. Our only option to keep things running is to fund raise but due to Coe's meadow being in a similar situation and needing funds we cannot flood the Village with too many events. We are hoping we can somehow work together to raise finances for us both. These two venues are important to the village and of course St Andrew's Church is in a similar situation. You can help the Village Hall by joining the lottery , easy to do, just contact Dawn at Bulmer post office and she will sign you up. On a happier note, thank you to everyone who attended the Quiz Night in May. As usual the tables were booked very quickly with a waiting list for more. It was, as usual, a noisy affair and there was a lot of good hearted banter. The fish and chips arrived on time, hot and tasty as always. The Codfather in Sudbury always does a good job. Our quiz masters were excellent keeping us scratching our heads looking for answers at times. At our Quiz nights we always give a donation from the raffle to a charity. This year it was to the East Anglian Air Ambulance who received £50 from us. Thank you who gave so generously. We are in need of committee members, it would be good to have some of our younger members of our Village coming forward. We are all getting older and need new blood to carry the Hall forward to bigger and better things. Please consider this if you love our Village and its assets. Get in touch if you are interested. Thank you to everyone for you valued support.

Bulmer Skylarks

We cannot deny this year has been somewhat eventful. Speakers have been unable to join us due to illness, personal problems etc. However we managed to find replacement speakers who filled the gaps. Our thanks to all of them. We have enjoyed learning about conservation at Ickworth, a tour of the Isle of Wight in pictures and a fascinating talk on bees, flowers and honey. Many of us bought jars of honey at this talk which was a bonus. We had a visit from East Anglian Air Ambulance on 6th May who demonstrated CPR and defibrillators. The meeting was very well attended by both Skylarks members and several Village residents. We were able to practice CPR on the several manikins brought by the instructors and all discovered how easy it is to use a defibrillator. It was an extremely busy sessions and really enjoyed by all. As most of us are of an age where we perhaps cannot get down to give CPR at least we can guide someone to do so properly. Our members were so pleased with the session that they were very generous with donations and coupled with a further donation from Skylarks and a gift from the Village Hall quiz night raffle we were able to make a donation to a very good cause of £193. The EAAA do not charge for these sessions and so many people give up their time to help save lives. Wonderful. We now look forward to our summer programme which we hope will be less stressful! On 24th June we will be holding our Summer party, the theme being loosely based on farming. The 22nd of July we will welcome Kerry who will be giving us chair exercises and meditation in order to keep fit and keep well. Our own Alison Brett will be telling us about her journey through patchwork and quilting on 26th August . We will hold our AGM on 23rd September followed by a quiz which always descends into noise and laughter. If you wish to find out more please come along to one of our meetings you will be made very welcome.
