Members of the public were present to discuss advertising boards on the perimeter of the football pitch.

The debate was opened with the point that income derived from the advertising was needed to supplement fund raising deficiencies due to Corvid restrictions.

The football club regularly raises money from a variety of events and donates to the Parish Council to pay for the expensive drainage maintenance treatments, needed to keep the playing surface of the field, which is owned by the Parish Council, playable.

As well as the donations to the Parish Council, the football club supports approx. 130 young boys and girls to play football, by keeping membership fees very low and supplying all the kit to the children, including coats.

Adult members as well as fund raising play in the older age groups teams, coach the younger players and help maintain the area.

Members of the public, ^{present,} ^{chief} not agree with permanent perimeter boards on the field as it was thought inappropriate in this rural village bordering a conservation area.

The football playing season extends for nine months of the year, with the majority of matches played Saturday and Sunday. Training takes place during the week at various times during the season.

The possibilities of movable advertising boards was discussed. This would be very time consuming needing a lot of man power before and after games.

A compromise may be the answer with the boards allowed to remain in situ during the weekend.

Councillors allowed for a planning application for perimeter advertising boards to be sent to R.V.B.C. for their consideration

Closed Open Forum.
