

PROPERTY RENTAL FRAUD

There has been a recent spate of frauds amongst people who are looking to rent a property.

The victim is persuaded by the 'landlord' to make an advanced payment for a rental property, using the outbreak as the reason the victim is unable to view the property. This is either because the property does not exist or because the criminal does not own it.

Many victims have arrived at the property to meet the 'landlord', who simply never arrives.

The main way to avoid this scam is to ensure you have done your research:

- Check to see whether the property is advertised elsewhere – these criminals often advertise identical listings but in different areas.
- Property viewings are not prohibited, as long as Government guidelines are adhered to (available here). But if you cannot see the property in person, ask for a video tour (this could be via a method such as Skype or Facetime).
- Be aware of any strange requests for additional payments or excessive personal details.
- If the deal seems too good, check the price for other properties in the surrounding area. If it's too good to be true, it usually is!

Remember ABC:

Never Assume they are legitimate.

Never Believe they are legitimate.

Always Confirm using a trusted source of information or by asking friends and family.
