22/69 Maldon District Councillor Update

District Councillor R Siddall addressed the council advising:

- Maldon District Council (MDC) are now close to achieving the target for a five-year land supply. They have employed the services of a Barrister to verify the method used by officers to calculate the land supply to prevent developer's challenging the Council in the future and which had been done previously. Provided the District Council can show over four years land supply any challenge would be weighted in favour of the Council.
- There are currently 1,800 houses in outline planning permission but this is likely to change as building rates are slowing due to the current economic conditions.
- As the Government's planning rules are changing MDC need to develop an up-to-date Local Plan. This is moving forward, albeit slowly.
- MDC are now looking at planning needs for the next 20 years.
- MDC now have a new Corporate Plan which will be refined and reviewed after the election.

- There is a need in North East Essex to ensure there are adequate business units suitable for small businesses to allow them to thrive.
- The Council remains short of money and further cuts have been made. It is essential a review of the Council's strategy takes place, after the election, to ensure works are prioritised to meet the needs of residents.
- The pre-election period starts on Monday the 13th March, two clear weeks before other authorities.
- Maldon Independents are now a political group, registered with the Electoral Commission. Their values have been published this week.

A member of the public asked what MDC was doing about the necessary infrastructure needed to properly service residents in the new developments. Cllr Siddall advised the Council had been let down by both Essex County Council and officers at MDC. Infrastructure needs will be addressed in the Corporate Plan.

Cllr Hornett thanked Cllr Siddall for taking the time to attend the meeting and his support over the past four years.

RESOLVED: Cllr Siddall's update was noted.
