

EDWARD MAY COLLECTION

ROMAN OBJECTS

Stag's Head Chest Ornament

House Bell against evil Spirits

Graeco-Roman Bow Brooch 6thC BC

Bow Brooch

Brooch of Polden Hill Type

Phallic Mount for a Box

Hair Pin

ANGLO-SAXON/SAXON

Bronze Strap-end c. 600 AD

Clothes Fastener

Hook Fastener

L. Possibly a Dagger Handle

R. Dagger Pommel

MEDIAEVAL

Ring Brooch 13 – 15thC

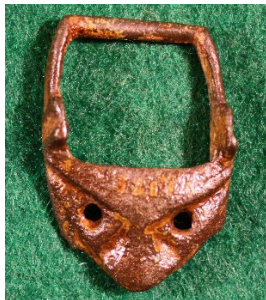

Ring Brooch with Paste Stone

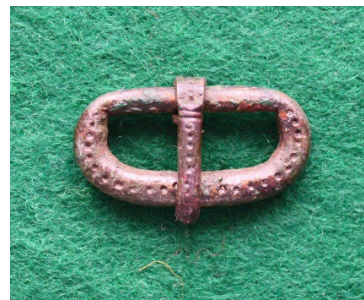

Spur Buckle 13 – 14th C

Ring Buckle Pins 13 – 15th C

'King's Head' Clasp 14thC

Copper Alloy Buckle

Pilgrim's Holy Water Ampulla 15thC

17TH – 19TH CENTURY

Harness Decoration 17th C

Rumbler Bell 16th – 19th C

Post-mediaeval Jaws Harp, played by gripping the frame between the teeth and plucking a flexible metal tongue mounted at the closed end and missing here. Opening or closing the mouth altered the resonance of the sound and thus produced a limited range of different notes.

The left-hand picture shows clockwise: a musket powder measure, musket ball, lead weight and a 19th C bullet for a rifled weapon. The right-hand picture is of a piece of lead used to hold a flint against the firing mechanism (16th – 18th C)

BUTTONS

Centre: Royal Army Ordnance Corps: Outer Group clockwise from left: Bucks Yeomanry, Monmouthshire Regiment), Volunteer Artillery (possibly Bucks), Bucks Yeomanry

Sporting Buttons

Two gilded Livery Buttons and one ornamental.