Wakes Colne Parish Council is saddened to announce the sudden death of its Chairman, Allan Hannington, on 9th December. Allan was a staunch member of the Council having served as a Councillor for over eight years, and having become Chairman two years ago. Allan's opinions were careful and precise, especially on planning matters, on which he brought his professional experience to bear. He was always supportive of the Council's endeavours, at meetings and in practice in the community, as with preparing for the installation of pedestrian lighting in Station Approach, washing up at the recent lunch in the Village Hall commemorating the end of WW1 and in attending the tree planting on the Millennium Green. He oversaw the Council in achieving a Gold Quality Award during the course of 2018. Allan will be sorely missed by the Council and Parish. We extend our sincere condolences to his wife, Lyn, and family.
