Hello fellow gardeners. Here is our latest information update!

Wembury Allotments Win Water Saving Grant

Good news !! We have been awarded a grant of around two and a half thousand pounds from South West Water's Water Saving Community Fund. The money will be used to buy new IBC tanks and replace some of the old ones, so that we can store more rainwater for the site. There is no mains supply at the allotments so every drop we use must be harvested. The new tanks will help us catch more of that precious rain and keep our crops and flowers alive through the dry spells. It is another step towards making the allotments more resilient and sustainable.

Plotolders of the Year

It was the allotment highlight of the year for the secretary to be able to present awards for Best Plot and Runner up. Pictured are Barry Robins (left) Plot of the Year and Banksian medal and Dave Wearing (right) runner up. Next year's competition is already being discussed !! (Photos Val Garland, Jan Jefferis)

Digging through the soil,
In the freezing rain,
Planting winter spuds,
Though none came up again,
The shed roof blew away,
The onions all took flight,
But Dave's got apple cider on,
So everything's all right!
Oh, Wembury plots, Wembury plots,
Carrots short and fat,
Sing a song of compost heaps,
And raise your muddy hat!
Wembury plots, Wembury plots,
Where Santa likes to stop,
Merry Christmas everyone,
From us up the allots!
