Information for teachers

The student is working at the local tourist office and you play the part of the Chinese tourist. You need to elicit the following:

- the type of accommodation available
- the cost
- the location of accommodation
- the facilities available in the suggested accommodation
- special offers

You will begin the conversation.

The list below is for suggestion only. It is intended to be neither prescriptive nor exhaustive. Teachers are expected to ask questions which will lead to genuine conversations with the students. Ask appropriate questions to keep the flow of conversation natural. Any "Yes / No" answers or brief answers should be followed up by further questions (e.g. Why? How?) to elicit more details. Students should also be encouraged to take initiative in the conversations, and voice their opinions as far as possible.

(H) indicates questions that are generally suitable for grades C-A*.
